

ROBERT FRAZIER.

[To accompany bill H. R. No. 208.]

MARCH 5, 1840.

MR. S. W. MORRIS, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Robert Frazier, report:

That they have had the subject under consideration, and believe that the petitioner is entitled to relief.

A bill was passed by the House of Representatives at the last session, which appears not to have been reached by the Senate for want of time.

The committee refer to, and adopt, the report made at the last Congress, and report a bill for his relief.

JANUARY 9, 1838.

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Robert Frazier, report:

That they have examined the memorial and accompanying papers, and find that the Committee on Invalid Pensions made a favorable report at the last Congress; that they fully concur in that report, and therefore report a bill accordingly. The report to which they refer is as follows:

"Petitioner was a private in a company of mounted men commanded by Captain Samuel Judy, in the years 1812 and 1813. The said captain deposes that petitioner was present in the attack upon the Kickapoo town, and was wounded. John D. Whiteside, whose credibility is not certified, swears that he saw petitioner in deadly conflict with an Indian, in which petitioner was victorious, and slew the savage, and that petitioner was injured in the groin, as deponent understood and believes. Two practising physicians certify, on oath, that petitioner is disabled by inguinal or scrotal hernia. Petitioner gives a detailed and consistent statement of the manner and circumstances of his injury. Your committee are satisfied, from the testimony in this case, that petitioner is now disabled in consequence of injuries received in the public service, and therefore report a bill."

Blair & Rives, printers.

REPORT:

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Robert Frazier, report:

That they have had the subject under consideration, and believe that the petitioner is entitled to relief.
A bill was passed by the House of Representatives at the last session, which appears not to have been reached by the Senate for want of time. The committee refer to, and adopt, the report made at the last Congress, and report a bill for his relief.

JANUARY 9, 1838.

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Robert Frazier, report:

That they have examined the memorial and accompanying papers, and find that the Committee on Invalid Pensions made a favorable report at the last Congress; that they fully concur in that report, and therefore report a bill accordingly. The report to which they refer is as follows:

"Petitioner was a private in a company of mounted men commanded by Captain Samuel Juby, in the years 1812 and 1813. The said captain deposes that petitioner was present in the attack upon the Kickapoo town, and was wounded. John D. Whiteside, whose credibility is not certified, swears that he saw petitioner in deadly conflict with an Indian, in which petitioner was victorious, and slew the savage, and that petitioner was injured in the groin, as deponent understood and believed. Two practicing physicians certify, on oath, that petitioner is disabled by inguinal or scrotal hernia. Petitioner gives a detailed and consistent statement of the manner and circumstances of his injury. Your committee are satisfied, from the testimony in this case, that petitioner is now disabled in consequence of injuries received in the public service, and therefore report a bill."

Plan & River printers.